

The Richard Doll Seminars in Public Health and Epidemiology

Nuffield Department of Population Health, University of Oxford

Michaelmas 2013 (October to December)
Tuesdays, 1-2pm

Lecture Theatre, Richard Doll Building, Old Road Campus

- 15th Oct Professor Gordon CS Smith
Department of Obstetrics and Gynaecology, University of Cambridge
Understanding the relationship between advanced maternal age and pregnancy outcome
- 22nd Oct Professor Dame Valerie Beral and Kath Moser
Cancer Epidemiology Unit, University of Oxford
Screening for breast cancer and the NHSBSP Age Extension Trial
- 29th Oct Professor Paul Elliott
Department of Epidemiology and Biostatistics, Imperial College London
Diet, blood pressure and the metabolome
- 5th Nov Professor Stephen Duffy
Wolfson Institute of Preventive Medicine, Barts and the London School of Medicine and Dentistry
What would screening for lung cancer in the UK look like?
- 12th Nov Professor Hans G Lilja
Nuffield Department of Surgical Sciences, University of Oxford, and Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center
Long-term risk of lethal prostate cancer by prostate-specific antigen (PSA) and related markers in blood at age 40 to 60
- 19th Nov Professor Peter Burney
National Heart and Lung Institute, Imperial College London
Is COPD really such a boring disease? The global epidemiology of chronic lung disease
- 26th Nov Professor Erik Ingelsson
Molecular Epidemiology, Uppsala University Hospital
Cardiovascular molecular epidemiology: Large-scale methods to link genomics, clinical medicine and molecular biology aiming to advance cardiovascular medicine
- 3rd Dec Professor Clive Osmond
MRC Lifecourse Epidemiology Unit, University of Southampton
The catch-up dilemma in low and middle income countries
-

All welcome

Conveners: Dr Dexter Canoy (CEU) and Dr Fiona Bragg (CTSU)

Email: rdseminars@ctsu.ox.ac.uk

Web: www.ceu.ox.ac.uk/seminars

Twitter: twitter.com/rdseminars